

At Entrance Roadway

1. Ron Bennett, Renascence, 1980

This aluminum geometric sculpture stands 21 feet tall and represents the hardness of Pittsburgh's historic industrial business acumen.

2. Hobbs and Nesteruk, Veterans Memorial Fountain, 1992

This stainless steel and etched glass fountain has a 7 foot tall plume. Water then cascades over glass panels with dedication inscriptions and Pittsburgh landscape scenes.

3. Jackie Ferrara, Paths, 1992

This mosaic floor tile installation was designed to help travellers find their way through the airport. Each path is a progression of lines, geometric shapes, alternating colors, and incremental systems.

4. Glenn Kaino, Arch, 2008

As a 250th birthday gift to the city, this temporary sculpture was installed downtown in Pittsburgh's Cultural District in 2008. It was moved to a more permanent, indoor home in 2013 at PIT. Arch is comprised of several city bridges, and appropriately serves as a welcoming ambassador to the city.

5. Miss Pittsburgh

A Waco 9 plane, Miss Pittsburgh was one of three aircraft used by aviation pioneer Clifford Ball to transport mail for the US Government beginning in 1927. Based originally at Bettis Field in McKeesport and later at Allegheny County Airport in West Mifflin, PA, Miss Pittsburgh has made PIT her home since 1995.

6. Daviea Davis, Pittsburgh Now and Then, 2007

This series depicts iconic landscape scenery from the surrounding region in glass mosaic.

7. T. Rex

T. Rex is a near life-sized skeletal model of a Tyrannosaurus Rex dinosaur provided by the Carnegie Museum of Natural History.

8. Greater Pittsburgh Airport Historical Display

This display features information about the historical and architectural significance of the former Greater PIT terminal.

9. Franco Harris and George Washington

This curious pairing depicts a well-recognized founding father, who fought in this region during the French and Indian war, as well as a sports legend that participated in a well-known play dubbed the 'Immaculate Reception' during an AFC divisional playoff game in 1972.

10. Alexander Calder, Pittsburgh, 1958

Pittsburgh was designed for Carnegie Institute's 1958 Bicentennial International Exhibition and was awarded first prize in sculpture. While on display at the airport for decades, Pittsburgh has also been loaned to major exhibitions in Spain and Italy.

11. World of Warhol

The Andy Warhol Museum curates these displays, which feature a rotating exhibition of Warhol prints from the permanent collection, artifacts from the Warhol archive, and other ephemeral.

12. Mr. Rogers' Won't You Be My Neighbor

Mister Rogers' Neighborhood debuted on Pittsburgh's WQED TV. The exhibit includes Mister Rogers videos, his signature sweater and sneakers as well as King Friday!

13. Hall of Valor

Military Portrait Stories is curated by Soldiers & Sailors Memorial Hall & Museum. This rotating series features stories honoring local service men and women of all branches of the military.

14. Tuskegee Exhibit

The exhibit honors and recognizes the legacy of Western Pennsylvania's Tuskegee Airmen, the largest contingent of the airmen in the United States.

15. Akiko Kotani, Strip Mines, 1992

Strip Mines is a 41 foot long wall hanging of wool on linen, woven using the flat tapestry technique. The artist drew inspiration from her personal experience of the region's landscape.
